Ask Study of Drainage District

WASHINGTON - A new study of the St. John Bayou basin drainage district is urged by Senators Stuart Symington and Edward V. Long and Congressman Paul C. Jones of Kennett.

In a letter to the chairman of the senate public works committee, Symington, Long and Jones requested "the Committee to adopt a resolution to authorize the corps of engineers to restudy the St. John Bayou Basin Drainage District."

"Damage is being caused by run-off water gathering on the inside of floodgates at the mouth of St. John Bayou east of New Madrid," the letter stated.

"There are no pumps at these gates, and when the gates are closed due to the rise of the Mississippi River, run-off water gathers on the inside of these gates causing damage to crops," they continued.

The last study of the district was based on information for 1959 and prior years. The board of supervisors of the district believes that a restudy will disclose that the installation of pumps at the gates would be economically justifiable.

Members of the board of supervisors include Thomas B. Allen of Sikeston, T. F. Hunter and John Edwards of New Madrid, W. C. Moore of Matthews and E. B. Gee of Blytheville, Ark.

Asks Viet Nam Delegates Attend Council

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. AP - The United States proposed today that both North Viet Nam and South Viet Nam be invited to take part in U.N. discussions on a conference to seek peace in Viet Nam.

U.S. Ambassador Arthur J. Goldberg told the Security Council that he believed it would be useful to have representatives of Saigon and Hanoi appear during current council debate.

The U.S. delegate took the floor as the 15-nation council met to consider a U.S. proposal for preliminary talks on arranging a Viet Nam peace conference.

U.S. Bombers Again Strike

SAIGON, South Viet Nam AP - U.S. warplanes hammered at targets in North Viet Nam again today, while on the ground American and Allied forces caught the Viet Cong in a giant vise along South Viet Nam's coastal plains and sent them sprawling into retreat after 488 were reported killed.

An Air Force spokesman said three American planes -- one Air Force and two Navy jets -- were lost in the first day of air attacks on the Communist North after the 37-day bombing pause. There were no details yet on the second day of the raids.

Actress Dies

HOLLYWOOD AP - Actress Elizabeth Patterson, whose face was known to a generation of movie goers who saw her in mother roles, died Monday at 90 after seven months illness.

Snowfall Eases in East Schools Urged

JEFFERSON CITY AP - Gov. Warren E. Hearnes today recommended an operating budget of $69,856,011 from general revenue for the University of Missouri, the five state colleges, Lincoln University, Missouri Southern State College at Joplin and Missouri Western College at St. Joseph.

That was $11.3 million less than the schools requested but represented an overall increase of 18.7 per cent or $11,019,781 over the current appropriation for the fiscal year ending June 30.

Here is a breakdown of what Southeast Missouri State College at Cape Girardeau requested along with the governor's recommendations:

Requested $4,699,975 and $6,550,493. Governor recommended $3,961,017 and $334,275.

Florida recovered from its frost and freeze and mild weather pressed in from the Gulf of Mexico along the coast to Texas.

Statewide emergencies were declared for Pennsylvania and Delaware where hundreds of travelers and rural dwellers were still isolated by road blockages caused by drifts of 10 feet or more. In Virginia, the snow dunes were reported 15 feet high.

Hundreds of schools were closed Monday or Tuesday, not only in the hard-hit Eastern sector, but also in the path of a new storm from New Mexico to Missouri.

Fire flared at Belle, Mo., today when two gas pipelines exploded.

Few Words Often Tells Big Story

BLOOMINGTON, Ind. AP - The two-hour final exam was only 15 minutes old when an Indiana University student turned in his paper and departed.

He had written only: "Good-bye I.U., Saigon here I come."

As an original member of the patrol's famous pistol team and captain of the group until his retirement, Wallis at one time was ranked as one of the nation's finest pistol shots. He holds a life-time master's pistol classification. Wallis also is a life member of the International Association of Chiefs of Police and belongs to the Missouri and Southeast Missouri Peace Officers associations.

Wallis says the major improvement in the patrol he has known has been in training of personnel. "The high moral and physical standards of our men have always been about the same," Wallis says, "but the training they receive is much better now."

"When I joined the patrol we went through the St. Louis Police Academy and therefore were taught such things as filing reports on dead animals in addition to the training that would benefit us as state troopers."

"Today's patrol recruit attends the Highway Patrol Academy at Rolla for 10 weeks of intensive training and is much better qualified to carry out the patrol motto of 'Service and Protection'."

Wallis has seen his troop shrink from 22 to 14 counties and the personnel grow from eight troopers in 1931 to more than 50. Many troopers now are specialists with expert training in such things as criminal investigation, highway safety, and interrogation and operation of the lie detection device.

"A day's cruise in the old days could be as much as 200 miles," Wallis says. Today, a trooper's normal patrol is about 50 miles.

Although the patrol's primary duty under state statute is highway safety, the agency devotes many hours to criminal investigation and other routine police matters.

One of the little-known services provided by the Patrol, Wallis says, is the highway relay of emergency items such as blood, eye tissue and heads of animals suspected to be rabid.

In the first six months of 1965 there were 661 relays, 235 of which were blood.

Icy Crust Halts Bootheel Travel

Ice covered highways and streets in the Bootheel today closed most of schools and halted other travel.

Two inches of sleet and snow and freezing rain that fell overnight caused a few disruptions of electrical service, according to George Robinson, Board of Public Works line superintendent.

He reported the most trouble came from lines pulled down by heavy ice and the weight of tree limbs.

A Board of Public Works crew of 14 men in six trucks were on duty since morning, and should restore all electrical service by noon.

Highways from Sikeston to Memphis are open but drivers were asked to drive cautiously over slick spots. Heavy slush was formed by the icy mixture and rising temperatures.

The Scott-New Madrid - Mississippi Rural Electric cooperative reported it had 11 trucks and 32 men at work. The men were on the job all night.

The REA reported 20 lines down. Power was off near East Prairie today from 4 a.m. to 8 a.m. today.

Missouri Utilities company servicemen received their first electrical line troubles at about 7 a.m. today, when three crews, totaling ten men were called out in the Sikeston, Morehouse and Blodgett areas.

Missouri Utilities manager W. M. Proffer stated a transmission line was out at Morehouse this morning.

He reported most of the damage was on lines from poles to houses, where the lines were broken when tree limbs fell on them.

Schools reported closed were at Sikeston, Morehouse, Richmond, Scott Central, Kelly High, Charleston, East Prairie, Bloomfield, Portageville, and Ross - Wardell. All vocational classes were cancelled.

Schools reported open today were at Parma, Matthews, New Madrid and Libourn, the Carusel school and Dexter.

The basketball game between Scott Central and Oran has been postponed. It will be scheduled at a later date.

Kelly high school's basketball game at Delta for tonight has been postponed.

The municipal airport reported there were no flights in or out today.

Ozark Airlines reported all flights cancelled in and out of the Cape Girardeau airport today, due to five to six inches of snow that had fallen by noon, followed by freezing rain. The 11 a.m. temperature was 32 degrees.

Variety Spices Rotary Session

Variety spiced the Rotary club meeting last night. There was music and planning for the Feb. 28 chili day at the Dunn hotel, the club's annual money raising effort.

The Travelers, high school student folk singing quartet, sang, "I Was Born 100,000 Years Ago," "Sally, Don't You Grieve," "Brandywine Blues," "Terry's Breakdown," "Long, Tall Texan," "Rock Island Line," and "When the Saints Go Marching In," in which the club joined.

Mike Hopkins did an imitation of television's Gomer Pyle and presented a parody of "Cinderella."

Others in the quartet are Sue Foster, Steve Matthews and Terry Burke.

Piano music by Mary Ann Bruce preceded the Travelers' appearance.

G. Hartley Jones Jr. offered the services of the club's sponsored Boy Scout troop 148 of which Wincil Moye is Scoutmaster to assist in chili day.

Dr. Mark Scully, president of the college, and Mrs. Scully will be hosts.

A public reception will be held in the Student Union.

The couple was away. They returned late in the afternoon from Cape Girardeau, where Green is employed.

Scott Budget LBJ in Of $421,743 Foreign Aid Plea

BENTON - Scott county's budget for 1966 has been adopted at $421,743.12. The budget represents an increase of $52,071.40 over 1965's outlay.

The largest budget outlay is $182,067.11 for salaries of county officers, the annual contribution to the county agriculture extension council of $12,500, for social security payments and the superintendent of schools retirement fund and all office supplies.

The contingent and emergency fund takes $92,985.89.

For road and bridge work, $61,640.12 was provided.

For jury and election costs, bar docket printing, $34,550 was earmarked.

Institutional care for the insane will require $10,500.

Waldman said the main reason for the budget increase is that this year for the first time, $40,000 from the state for gas tax collections was included with road and bridge work.

The balance of the increase, according to Waldman, is due to costs of the Aug. 2 election which will involve payment of judges and clerks, whose pay was increased from $8 per day to $12.

The budget was adopted yesterday by the county court.

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson asked Congress today for five-year authority for foreign aid and proposed that the global program be split into separate economic and arms aid bills.

In a special message seeking $3.39 billion in new aid funds for next year, Johnson also spelled out a $1-billion program of food, education and health assistance abroad.

"I propose that the United States offer to join in new attacks upon the root causes of world poverty," the President told the legislators.

"The incessant cycle of hunger, ignorance, and disease is the common blight of the developing world. This vicious pattern can be broken. It must be broken if democracy is to survive."

Johnson said the large-scale foreign aid program is necessary for the same reasons as his "Great Society" program inside the United States.

He said the aim is to improve "the kind of world our children will live in."

The $3.39 billion — $2.469 billion in economic aid and $917 million in military — more than Congress voted last year in comparable new funds for the year ending June 30, 1966. But just how much the increase amounts to is difficult to say because a large chunk of the arms assistance, for Viet Nam, has been wrapped into the regular U.S. defense budget.

A fight seemed certain over nonmoney items in the aid legislation as well as the more usual tugging and hauling over the financing.

LONDON (AP) — After a 29-minute delay due to a false bomb alarm, Queen Elizabeth II and Prince Philip took off today for a five-week tour of Commonwealth territories in the sunny Caribbean.

Philip will go on to the United States to seek a million dollars for charity and more trade for Britain.

The tour will take the royal couple to Jamaica, Trinidad and Tobago and 12 British territories in the area, including restless British Guiana.

During most of the American visit, Philip will fly his own twin-engine turboprop Andover.

Hedda Hopper's Condition Grave

Miss Hopper, 75, was stricken by a virus infection Friday, and her condition worsened Sunday, an aide said.

$10,000 Loss in Morehouse Fire

MOREHOUSE -- A fire in the north part of this city destroyed the home of Mr. and Mrs. Jim Green Friday afternoon, causing an estimated loss of between $10,000 and $12,000.

The couple was away. They returned late in the afternoon from Cape Girardeau, where Green is employed.

The contents of the two-story frame house were destroyed, and the interior charred.

The only item saved from the house was an adding machine. Green is a painter. The house had been remodeled recently.

The fire was believed to have started around a stove flue on the first floor at the front of the house.

It had gained headway before it was discovered at 1 p.m.

The Morehouse volunteer fire department fought the blaze until late in the afternoon. Firemen were called back at 10 p.m. when the blaze started a second time at the rear part of the structure.

A VOLUNTEER fireman points a stream of water at the smoking Jim Green home in Morehouse yesterday. The house was destroyed by fire.

Snowfall eased today in the big Eastern storm, but cold, gusty winds continued to pile drifts, bedeviling efforts to clear roads in smothered communities and a new storm spread 4 to 8 inches of snow northeastward out of the southern Plains.

Syracuse, N.Y., still was in the grip of blizzard snow squalls blowing off Lake Ontario.

The Weather Bureau said that the record January snowfall included 43 inches at Worcester, Mass., 41 inches at both Burlington, Vt., and Roanoke, Va.

IN DEFENSE OF THE GROUNDHOG

If the groundhog sees his shadow on Wednesday, Feb. 2, so runs the old belief, he will scamper back into his hole and 40 more days of winter weather will ensue. If he does not see his shadow, he will end his hibernation, and that means that spring is "not far behind."

Three years ago the National Geographic Society, which is ordinarily more concerned with making myths than breaking them, put out a bold canard to the effect that the groundhog--or woodchuck or American marmot, as you prefer--hibernates from mid-autum to March, living off the food consumed the previous summer. He doesn't come out of his hole in February, said the Geo people, and when he does he isn't thinking of weather but of sex and food.

Officials of the Slumbering Lodge of Groundhogs in Quarryville, Pa., immediately called "Foul." Near Quarryville, in southern Lancaster County, members of the lodge gather annually on the bank of Octoraro Creek, carrying canes and wearing high silk hats. They hunt down the groundhog in his burrow, flush him, and then engage in solemn colloquy to determine whether he has seen his shadow. At Punxsutawney, in the western part of Pennsylvania (Jefferson County), where similar ceremonies are performed, a spokesman said of the Geographic Society: "They don't know anything about the habits of the groundhog."

On safer ground, Feb. 2 is also Candlemas (literally, the blessing of the candles) and is celebrated in Eastern Catholic churches as the Feast of the Presentation of Jesus in the Temple and in Roman Catholic and Anglican churches as the Purification of the Blessed Virgin.

THE PAY-OFF THAT FAILED

Whatever may come of it, the Senate's refusal to repeal Section 14(b) of the Taft-Hartley Act is a well deserved slap at the politicians and union leaders who thought they could pull a fast one on the American people.

It suggests that quite a few Senators doubt there is any great popular enthusiasm for the proposition that a workingman should be compelled to join a union in order to keep his job. It should also, though we wouldn't bet that it will, spur serious thinking about some other strange union attitudes, policies and powers.

Attempts may yet be made in this session to revive repeal; if not, then probably next year. But it is significant that the repeal proponents, needing a two-thirds majority to limit debate on the right-to-work issue, were unable to muster a simple majority even in a top-heavily liberal Democratic Senate.

The effrontery in the repeal effort consists partly in its gross politicking--the nullification of state laws prohibiting the union shop was conceived as a pay-off to organized labor for its support of the Democrats in last year's election. Admittedly that is not exactly novel in our politics. What makes it worse in this case is that the whole idea of compulsory unionism is itself an affront to the values of a free society.

The arguments, such as they are, marshaled for repeal are sophistry at best. It is contended in particular that the union shop is somehow a manifestation of the democratic ideal; majority rules and if the employee is to enjoy union-won benefits he should be made to bear his share of the freight.

Not so. Unions are not organs of government, however much official favoritism they enjoy, and for the most part they are certainly not democratically run. On the contrary, the notion that an individual should be forced to join any private organization, and especially to make his very livelihood dependent on doing so, goes altogether against the American grain.

The union attitude on this score nonetheless typifies a series of archaic beliefs professed by the leaders of organized labor. (We do not hesitate to add that managements are also capable of antiquated and muddled thinking; but they don't have the same powers as the unions.)

Union officials fight to retain the privilege of featherbedding, which again seems at odds with the American habit--and we think for most Americans it still exists--of delivering an honest day's work for an honest day's pay. Frequently they oppose automation despite all the evidence past and present that technology makes for abundance and more rather than fewer jobs. They demand higher minimum wages which create unemployment among the poor and unskilled who are least able to take it.

Notable too is the growing union tendency to use the strike at the drop of a hat instead of reserving it as a last desperate weapon when all else has failed. The upshot is not only hardship for union members, employers and the community during the stoppage; strikes can also force companies out of business and hence destroy jobs.

In these and similar ways union officials seem to be living in another age, an age of fiefdoms where they are free to exert compulsion on their members and act in disregard of the common weal. There is little to suggest, at any rate, that most unions are making an intelligent attempt to grapple with contemporary industrial problems, let alone champion the rights of the individual worker.

Had the unions won repal of 14(b), or if they still do, it would enhance their power both symbolically and practically. And that at a time when their special privileges and questionable tactics cry out for searching examination in Legislative halls.

Perhaps the Senate's refusal to pay off, in the face of considerable pressure and the crudest kind of threats from some unionists, is an indication that the nation is beginning to get fed up with union divisiveness and intransigence. For the time being, in any event, the nation is the better off for the Senate's courage.

HOW NOT TO BE FOOLED IN ONE EASY LESSON

You are required to make more decisions today that affect your future than ever before. The world is changing faster than ever, and each of us is caught up in the dynamic circumstances. Shall we vote for a new school?

What do we do about an improved water supply? How should I better understand the civil rights issues?

What are my responsibilities and benefits under new laws like medicare?

It is easy to get behind the times. Changes brought about by the rapidly increasing and mobile population force each of us to decide certain questions nearly every day. Decide wisely and we benefit; decide unwisely and we pay either with money, misery or inefficiency.

Helping people to deal with these changes is one of the most important benefits of a community-minded newspaper. Where else can the information basic to a wise decision be found? One could take hours to visit a school to decide whether it is really crowded or not, but the average person is not likely to do so. One could conduct his own original study about water needs or other questions facing the public, but most people are not likely to do that, either.

The newspaper is geared to provide its readers with a running account of circumstances which lead to or involve civic problems. The newspaper boils down the problem so that readers can get the basic, accurate information they need to vote and act wisely. More and more of these decisions must be made. The newspaper is more and more valuable in supplying this information.

The newspaper reader is fortunate. He doesn't need to vote on hunch, or according to neighborhood rumors. He doesn't need to spend his time attending numerous meetings and checking public records. The newspaper does this for him. It helps him act positively in the voting booth. It keeps him from being easily fooled about public matters.

GROUND HOG DAY AND THE HEART FUND
It's mere coincidence that the ground hog makes his legendary appearance from hibernation one day after the opening of the Heart Fund--here and in 8500 other American communities.

Actually, Mister Ground Hog -- that faint-hearted shadow dodger of weather folklore--is one of the most valuable Heart volunteers. He has already provided much information which is vital in delicate time-consuming human surgery, such as the open-heart operation.

The ground hog is one animal whose heart can be studied in normal state at a temperature as low as 10 to 15 degrees Centigrade and a slowed pulse rate as low as two beats per minute--conditions in which a non-hibernating animal's heart would stop beating. Only by mechanical means can science produce in the human body what the ground hog accomplishes naturally.

The ground hog's built-in heat-regulating mechanism brings its body temperature close to the environmental temperature and affords an opportunity to learn much about the human heart in this state as well as how it recovers after chilling.

So regardless of what happens on February 2--whether he sees his shadow and retreats for another six weeks, or whether the absence of a show portends mild weather in the days ahead--hats off to the ground hog!

Hats off, also, to your local Heart Association, and its continuing fight to bring under control heart attack, stroke and other cardiovascular diseases which are responsible for more than half of all deaths in this area.

If the playboys of this world only married the bunnies life would be a lot less complicated for everybody else.

The Missouri Highway Patrol has released its Interstate Highway System Activities Summary for 1965.

A total of 10,487 services were rendered by the Patrol on the 571 miles of completed interstate highway. Included in this total was aid given to 3,081 drivers because of mechanical breakdown; 2,473 service due to tire failure; 2,064 aids rendered to motorists out of gasoline; service given to 65 vehicles on fire, and 532 miscellaneous services.

Interstate Highway 70, from St. Louis to Kansas City, was the scene of 4,179 services rendered by the Patrol. This was the most service performed on any one super-highway last year. The next Missouri interstate highway highest for aid given was I-44, from St. Louis to Joplin, with 3,685 services. The Highway Patrol's Activities Summary also showed that last year the Patrol investigated 1,455 accidents on these super-highways. The number of persons killed in those mishaps totaled 81.

The Patrol Superintendent, Colonel E. I. (Mike) Hockaday, called attention to the twoleading service categories in the Summary. He said, "The high number of mechanical breakdowns and tire failures witnessed by the Patrol on our interstate highways last year indicates a dire need for motorists to have their vehicles checked before traveling these roadways. Vehicles must be in top mechanical condition for continuous high speed driving on super-highways."

Colonel Hockaday urged motorists to check their brakes, windshield wipers, lights, tires, radiator, fan belt, oil and battery before traveling on the Interstate System.

Lincoln's image looks as if he were thinking about the problems he faced in those difficult days when brother was fighting brother over union and slavery, and when he had to make decisions to continue, intensify or abandon that war.

Looking up beyond the trees heavy with snow and the tidal basin covered with ice sits another president, also thinking, also faced with decisions--whether to continue or intensify or abandon another war--a war much farther away than Vicksburg or Appomattox but also involving union.

They are reversible, so if you get them soiled you can wear them inside out and thus wear them longer without having to wash them. LEGISLATION BY CATCHWORD

As the effectiveness of Congress becomes more and more a topic for public discussion, it is vitally important to understand just what kind of job Congress is intended to do.

Congress is a legislative body, which means that its basic power is to pass laws. But the effectiveness of Congress can be at least as well measured by the bills it refuses to approve, as by those which it does make law.

Congress was never intended by our Founding Fathers to be only a rather clumsy vehicle for approving legislative programs drawn up by the President. But this seems to be the way many people regard it today. We see this in many of the news stories about Congress, where words such as "road-block," "hurdle" and "meat ax" are frequently used to describe any opposition in Congress to legislation proposed by a President.

The image these words create is obviously unfavorable. They make Congress look like an obstacle to progress instead of a guardian of liberty.

In fact, there can be no real progress without liberty. If our guardians of liberty do not do their job, we will continue to move back toward the days when arbitrary and oppressive government was universal.

Rule by the President alone would amount to an elective dictatorship. An ineffective Congress shares power with the President, influences the judiciary and thus prevents either from exercising independent rule.

That is why the independence of Congress must be preserved to guard liberty by not being a rubber stamp for the other branches. HLH

Washington Merry - Go - Round

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON-- The Lincoln Memorial is calm and stately in the snow these nights; silent in the moonlight. Almost no one comes there to disturb the monument of the lonely man who sits thinking in his chair. There are only one or two tracks in the snow leading up the steps.

So he sits there, looking out at the cold and beautiful world, the trees along the reflection pool ghostlike under the new moon; the shaft of stone, built in honor of another great president, standing against the horizon, very much alone.

Lincoln's image looks as if he were thinking about the problems he faced in those difficult days when brother was fighting brother over union and slavery, and when he had to make decisions to continue, intensify or abandon that war.

Looking up beyond the trees heavy with snow and the tidal basin covered with ice sits another president, also thinking, also faced with decisions--whether to continue or intensify or abandon another war--a war much farther away than Vicksburg or Appomattox but also involving union.

That other president seldom sleeps out a whole night any more--and the decisions he faces must be made today and tomorrow and the day after tomorrow. Part of those long, lonesome nights he sits up in the big bed Lincoln slept in. The telephone--which Lincoln never had--is alongside the bed and about three every morning this president calls the Situation Room to find out what has happened in the war for which he has to make decisions--especially how many boys were killed that day. Part of the night he also sits up reading the history of Lincoln's decisions, how he reversed his cabinet, removed his generals, ignored his senators.

DECISIONS, DECISIONS
Then he ponders how far he should go in doing likewise. Should he listen to his generals who, like Gen. Henry W. Halleck at the Battle of Fredericksburg, want more and more men? Or should he listen to the old soldiers, Gen. Jim Gavin, Gen. Omar Bradley, Gen. Matt Ridgway, all of whom replaced MacArthur in Korea, all of whom advise against sending more American boys to wade through the elephant grass, recommend keeping them in easily guarded encampments along the Viet Nam coast instead?

Should he replace Gen. Westmoreland, who may be getting tired, with Gen. Creighton Abrams, as Lincoln replaced Halleck with Grant?

Sometimes late at night he reads Bruce Catton's great book "Never Call Retreat" on the decisions Lincoln faced. There was one important difference between Lincoln's drive for union and the policy against union the President inherited on the other side of the world.

Lincoln was driving to keep a dismembered nation together. With the dead piling up on both sides in a way that makes the Viet Nam war seem like pop battles, his senate friends, many of his cabinet, begged him to end the fighting. He ignored his critics, overrode his cabinet, vetoed the senators of his own party to keep the country together.

Today on the other side of the world, the President who sleeps in Lincoln's bed has been euehrned into fighting a war against union, a war to keep two peoples, many of them related, many of the same race, separate.

He inherited a war which started when John Foster Dulles maneuvered to get around the Geneva Treaty providing elections to let these two peoples vote on union. The United States had been urging elections to bring unity between East and West Germany, urging elections in Latin America, all over the world--except in these two little countries now torn by war.

That is the big difference between the decisions faced by the man in the White House 100 years ago and the man who sleeps in his bed today.

How much weight should be given to those air photos of supplies snaking through the jungle. . . heavy 120-millimeter mortars and 75-millimeter howitzers broken in six pieces, each weighing 200 pounds, slung in a cradle on the backs of two men and packed by them over the mountains, through the steaming jungles, to the battlefield to face American troops?

Should this supply line be bombed at its source--Hanoi and Haiphong?

And how important are the photos of bridges repaired, new anti-aircraft defenses built, new ack-ack guns installed--all increasing the risk to American lives on the next attack. Now should we bomb them even if our bombs hit Russian ships, Russian personnel; or should he wait?

That other president looking out over the snow-dressed trees and the tidal basin had called upon the Russian fleet 100 years ago to help protect New York and San Francisco and thus had helped turn the tide of union victory.

It was the British, still smarting from the independence of the American colonies, who broke the Union blockade, landed supplies in the south, fanned the fires of rebellion, almost went to war against the north. If the British had gone as far in the south in 1860-64 as the United States has gone in Viet Nam in 1960-66, we would be a balkanized nation, split up into tiny, helpless enclaves. Thanks to Lincoln's courage a United America is the most powerful nation in the world.

The lonely man in the White House looks up from his desk and the cables from Saigon, looks out at the snow and the bowed trees and the bright moon over the Potomac, looks toward the Lincoln Memorial at the monument to a man who made difficult, heart-rending decisions to keep the Union together. And like the man who made them 100 years ago, this President knows that he alone can make them today.

The ground hog is one animal whose heart can be studied in normal state at a temperature as low as 10 to 15 degrees Centigrade and a slowed pulse rate as low as two beats per minute--conditions in which a non-hibernating animal's heart would stop beating. Only by mechanical means can science produce in the human body what the ground hog accomplishes naturally.

The ground hog's built-in heat-regulating mechanism brings its body temperature close to the environmental temperature and affords an opportunity to learn much about the human heart in this state as well as how it recovers after chilling.

So regardless of what happens on February 2--whether he sees his shadow and retreats for another six weeks, or whether the absence of a show portends mild weather in the days ahead--hats off to the ground hog!

Hats off, also, to your local Heart Association, and its continuing fight to bring under control heart attack, stroke and other cardiovascular diseases which are responsible for more than half of all deaths in this area.

If the playboys of this world only married the bunnies life would be a lot less complicated for everybody else.

The American Heart Association and its affiliates and chapters have channeled more than 110 million Heart Fund dollars into research since 1949, according to the Missouri Heart Association.

The Missouri Highway Patrol has released its Interstate Highway System Activities Summary for 1965.

A total of 10,487 services were rendered by the Patrol on the 571 miles of completed interstate highway. Included in this total was aid given to 3,081 drivers because of mechanical breakdown; 2,473 service due to tire failure; 2,064 aids rendered to motorists out of gasoline; service given to 65 vehicles on fire, and 532 miscellaneous services.

Interstate Highway 70, from St. Louis to Kansas City, was the scene of 4,179 services rendered by the Patrol. This was the most service performed on any one super-highway last year. The next Missouri interstate highway highest for aid given was I-44, from St. Louis to Joplin, with 3,685 services.

The Highway Patrol's Activities Summary also showed that last year the Patrol investigated 1,455 accidents on these super-highways. The number of persons killed in those mishaps totaled 81.

The Patrol Superintendent, Colonel E. I. (Mike) Hockaday, called attention to the twoleading service categories in the Summary. He said, "The high number of mechanical breakdowns and tire failures witnessed by the Patrol on our interstate highways last year indicates a dire need for motorists to have their vehicles checked before traveling these roadways. Vehicles must be in top mechanical condition for continuous high speed driving on super-highways."

Colonel Hockaday urged motorists to check their brakes, windshield wipers, lights, tires, radiator, fan belt, oil and battery before traveling on the Interstate System.

Washington Merry - Go - Round

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON-- The Lincoln Memorial is calm and stately in the snow these nights; silent in the moonlight. Almost no one comes there to disturb the monument of the lonely man who sits thinking in his chair. There are only one or two tracks in the snow leading up the steps.

So he sits there, looking out at the cold and beautiful world, the trees along the reflection pool ghostlike under the new moon; the shaft of stone, built in honor of another great president, standing against the horizon, very much alone.

Lincoln's image looks as if he were thinking about the problems he faced in those difficult days when brother was fighting brother over union and slavery, and when he had to make decisions to continue, intensify or abandon that war.

Looking up beyond the trees heavy with snow and the tidal basin covered with ice sits another president, also thinking, also faced with decisions--whether to continue or intensify, or abandon another war--a war much farther away than Vicksburg or Appomattox but also involving union.

That other president seldom sleeps out a whole night any more--and the decisions he faces must be made today and tomorrow and the day after tomorrow. Part of those long, lonesome nights he sits up in the big bed Lincoln slept in. The telephone--which Lincoln never had--is alongside the bed and about three every morning this president calls the Situation Room to find out what has happened in the war for which he has to make decisions--especially how many boys were killed that day. Part of the night he also sits up reading the history of Lincoln's decisions, how he reversed his cabinet, removed his generals, ignored his senators.

DECISIONS, DECISIONS
Then he ponders how far he should go in doing likewise. Should he listen to his generals who, like Gen. Henry W. Halleck at the Battle of Fredericksburg, want more and more men? Or

A woman doesn't mind if a man is a cad--as long as his convertible is, too.

The difference between a beautiful girl and a female robot is that the robot stops making noise when it gets oiled.

WOMEN DON'T SWALLOW MEN'S BITTER PILLS

Women can taste things better than men, according to a study of 400 in the Catholic Digest. The only things that men could taste better than women were vinegar, lemon, and sour grapes! Another study at the University of Michigan showed that men can't hear higher-pitched sounds nearly so well as women.

Once upon a time there were three coeds -- a big coed, a medium-sized coed, and a little tiny coed. One night they came home from a dance, and the big coed said, "Someone's been sleeping in my bed!"

The medium-sized coed looked in her room and said, "Someone's been sleeping in my bed!" And the little tiny coed said, "...Well, mighty-night, girls!"

A polite and rather timid young man, after buying a lady-friend a pair of gloves as a birthday present, scribbled the following note to be sent along with them:

"I hope you find these a welcome birthday gift, since I noticed--on our last few dates--that you weren't wearing any. They are reversible, so if you get them soiled you can wear them inside out and thus wear them longer without having to wash them. I'm only sorry I cannot be there at your party to watch your smiling face as you try them on."

He left the note with the saleslady, who promptly sent it off with the wrong package; a pair of silk panties.

A foresighted girl should consider marrying an archeologist. The older she gets, the more interest he will take in her. At least, that's the theory.

The 1965 pecan crop is estimated at 260 million pounds. Although production was cut along the Gulf Coast due to hurricane Betsy, there were increases in other producing areas, and this year's crop should be about 86 million pounds larger than last year's.

Would you say a half hour is a reasonable average of the time it takes a woman to get out after she has announced to her hostess that she must leave?

Great businessmen are like great politicians in one respect--they sense what the people want and try to give it to them.

TOO INQUISITIVE

"Mother, there isn't any harm in walking in the park with a young man after dark is there?"

"No, not if you keep on walking. When I was young, I often went walking in the park at night."
"And did you keep on walking?"
"Hush, girlie--it's time for you to go to bed."

To expect the best of life to occur when you are past seventy is a hopeless wish, in my opinion.

H. L. Hunt Says

LEGISLATION BY CATCHWORD

As the effectiveness of Congress becomes more and more a topic for public discussion, it is vitally important to understand just what kind of job Congress is intended to do.

Congress is a legislative body, which means that its basic power is to pass laws. But the effectiveness of Congress can be at least as well measured by the bills it refuses to approve, as by those which it does make law.

Congress was never intended by our Founding Fathers to be only a rather clumsy vehicle for approving legislative programs drawn up by the President. But this seems to be the way many people regard it today. We see this in many of the news stories about Congress, where words such as "road-block," "hurdle" and "meat ax" are frequently used to describe any opposition in Congress to legislation proposed by a President. The image these words create is obviously unfavorable. They make Congress look like an obstacle to progress instead of a guardian of liberty.

In fact, there can be no real progress without liberty. If our guardians of liberty do not do their job, we will continue to move back toward the days when arbitrary and oppressive government was universal.

Rule by the President alone would amount to an elective dictatorship. An active effective Congress shares power with the President, influences the judiciary and thus prevents either from exercising independent rule.

That is why the independence of Congress must be preserved to guard liberty by not being a rubber stamp for the other branches. HLH killings people was because people shoved him around and didn't understand him.

Besides, according to the current ABC version, he was "cursed with a quick and restless gun." It is explained in the ballad that opens the show each Monday night. Just Monday night he was sweet enough to take a lot of money he and his pals stole in a bank robbery and give it to the widow of a gang member who got killed in the exploit.

Daniel Boone? Oh, he's a tall, God-dropping, fellow who lives in a stockade and carries a gun and fights Injuns—except his best friend, who is a feather-wearing Injun who went to Harvard and speaks much better English than Dan!

Ulysses S. Grant? Oh, he was President of the United States or something a long time ago and spent most of his time hiring secret agents. He had one secret agent named James West, according to CBS, and he rode around in a private railroad car, keeping crazy inventors from destroying the nation and keeping important visitors from being killed and kissing pretty girls.

Then this Grant, according to NBC, had another agent, a man who had been kicked out of the cavalry for cowardice. Grant knew this fellow was no coward but he didn't do anything about it because he had lots of secret missions he wanted him to perform.

A youngster in the impressionable years could certainly get a strange version of American history—particularly as it applied to the Old West—if his exposure to it were confined to television series.

CBS' dinner-hour news show became a colorcast Monday night. At least most of the news film and reporter Walter Cronkite blossomed forth in color. NBC's Huntley-Brinkley show has been in color for some time now.

Color film of action in Viet Nam shows forcefully the ugly face of war, but it also underscores its drama. Some of CBS' film of Washington after the big snow looked like a delicate Christmas card.

In this amazing game of bowling where one day you can and the next you can't or one game you do fine and the next not so good my third game was high for the week. After bowling a 117 my first game then a 167 I finally connected with a 205 for high game and series too. The girls teased me because Mother and Daddy came out to the lanes to watch just as we were finishing the second game and they said I had to try to show off for them. In that case I should take them out with me every time I bowl.

No report this week from either Imperialetts or Delta Keglers.

Strange History On TV

Mrs. Richie Wrather Feted With Bridal Shower

CANALOU -- Mrs. Richie Wrather was honored with a bridal shower in the school lunch room Friday, Jan. 15. Hostesses were Mrs. Hazel Bennett of Sikeston, Mrs. Donald Hammack and Mrs. Barney Blankenship.

Games were played and after the gifts were opened and displayed, refreshments of mixed nuts, crackers, dessert and punch were served buffet style. The gift table and serving table were covered with white table cloths and flower arrangements.

Those attending or sending gifts were Mrs. Erin Wrather, mother-in-law of the honoree; Mrs. Mary Wrather, sister-in-law of the honoree; Mrs. James Taylor, Miss Linda Ruder, Miss Kathy Johnson, Miss Beth Mayfield, Miss Sue Foster, Miss Mary Leible, Mrs. Cecil Holman, Miss Ann Holman.

Mrs. Dorothy Porter, Mrs. Betty Hornback, Mrs. Paul McKilling people was because people shoved him around and didn't understand him.

Besides, according to the current ABC version, he was "cursed with a quick and restless gun," it is explained in the ballad that opens the show each Monday night. Just Monday night he was sweet enough to take a lot of money he and his pals stole in a bank robbery and give it to the widow of a gang member who got killed in the exploit.

Daniel Boone? Oh, he's a tall, G-dropping, fellow who lives in a stockade and carries a gun and fights injuns--except his best friend, who is a feather-wearing injun who went to Harvard and speaks much better English than Dan?

Ulysses S. Grant? Oh, he was President of the United States or something a long time ago and spent most of his time hiring secret agents. He had one secret agent named James West, according to CBS, and he rode around in a private railroad car, keeping crazy inventors from destroying the nation and keeping important visitors from being killed and kissing pretty girls.

Then this Grant, according to NBC, had another agent, a man who had been kicked out of the cavalry for cowardice. Grant knew this fellow was no coward but he didn't do anything about it because he had lots of secret missions he wanted him to perform.

A youngster in the impressionable years could certainly get a strange version of American history -- particularly as it applied to the Old West -- if his exposure to it were confined to television series.

CBS' dinner-hours news show became a colorcast Monday night. At least most of the news film and reporter Walter Cronkite blossomed forth in color. NBC's Huntley-Brinkley show has been in color for some time now.

Color film of action in Viet Nam shows forcefully the ugly face of war, but it also underscores its drama. Some of CBS' film of Washington after the big snow looked like a delicate Chris Las card.

Recommended tonight: "Sammy and his Friends," ABC, 7:30-8:30. Sammy Davis Jr. hosts a special with Frank Sinatra, Eddie Adams and Count Basie; CBS News special, 10:30-11 with Sen. J. William Fulbright of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee discusses Viet Nam.

Strike from mankind the principle of faith, and men would have no more history than a flock of sheep.

Polly's Pointers

Save and Lose Weight, Too

By Polly Cramer, Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Polly

DEAR POLLY--My Pointer is on how to lose weight and enjoy it. I was so overweight my boy friend teased me and called me Fatty, which I hated. I ate all the time. Before Christmas I found something rather expensive that I wanted to give my parents as a gift. I had been using most of my school lunch money for sweets and other fattening foods. I saved that money as well as what I made baby sitting and doing other odd jobs. The money began to accumulate and meanwhile I lost about 15 pounds. As I worked harder to earn more money I got plenty of exercise which helped me to lose more weight. I went down from 160 to 140 pounds. So, girls, if you are overweight and want to get your parents a gift for some special occasion do as I did and you will be most pleased. --MISS S. W. I

P.S. I got my boy friend back, too.

DEAR POLLY--We have a lantern which my husband bought last year after we had had ice storms. During our recent blackout we lighted it, placed it in a convenient spot in the living room where we all gathered. My hubby placed a good-sized mirror against the wall, moved it back and forth until it picked up the light and threw a glow into the hall which leads to the bathroom and other rooms. The light was not bright enough to read by but there was plenty of light so we could move about. --E. A. C.

DEAR POLLY--Even after a thorough hot water washing some of my cotton blouses retain a perspiration odor under the arms. They seem to be clean and fresh otherwise but as I start to iron them the odor returns. May I add my praise for your wonderful, helpful column. --A. Z.

A. Z.--Some authorities suggest treating the spot where perspiration odor persists with clear mouth wash. Do remember our usual warning, always pretest the effect of any such treatment in an inconspicuous spot. --POLLY

DEAR POLLY--I want to tell the other mothers about an experiment we tried in our home recently and with great success. For one son's fourth birthday his 5-year-old brother gave him as a gift his snowsuit from last year as well as pajamas and a sweater he had outgrown. Before he wrapped the gifts I mended and pressed them carefully, changed the buttons for others of a different color and "big brother" put pennies in some of the pockets and candy in others. He gift-wrapped them all by himself. The younger lad is now wearing these gifts with great pride rather than thinking of them as hand-me-downs. --M. B. B.

Southern Teams Hold Down First Three Places In AP Poll

By ED SCHUYLER JR.
Associated Press Sports Writer

Things are just dandy for Dixie Basketball boosters. A trio of Southern teams—Duke, Kentucky and Vanderbilt—hold down the first three places in the weekly Associated Press major college poll.

Duke increased its slight lead over Kentucky to 12 points while Vanderbilt advanced from fourth to third, replacing Providence.

The top-ranked Blue Devils received 24 first-place votes and 398 points in the poll of 42 sports writers and sportscasters after defeating North Carolina State Saturday night for their 13th straight victory and 15th in 16 games.

Kentucky kept its unbeaten record intact with victories No. 13 and 14 over Louisiana State and Auburn last week and received 17 first-place votes and 386 points.

The other first-place ballot went to Dayton which upset St. Joseph's, Pa. Despite the upset victory, the Flyers remained unranked.

Vanderbilt moved into third place on the strength of an easy victory over Louisiana State, which raised the Commodores' record to 15-2. They could improve their ranking with a victory over Kentucky Wednesday, Kentucky won the first meeting of the two teams.

The voting, with records and points:

1. Duke	15-1	398
2. Kentucky	14-0	386
3. Vanderbilt	15-2	276
4. Providence	13-1	271
5. Chicago Loyola	15-1	217
6. Texas Western	14-0	189
7. Kansas	14-3	108
8. St. Joseph's, Pa.	13-4	75
9. Michigan	11-4	49
10. Cincinnati	14-3	30

Drake Number One In Valley Basketball

By JIM VAN VALKENBURG
Associated Press Sports Writer

Drake coach Maurice John is an optimist by nature, but not even John expected underrated Drake to move from last place in Missouri Valley basketball to tie for first in a three-week span.

Three weeks ago Drake was 0-2 in the Valley and had just lost a home game to Bradley. Since then, Drake has won five straight, four in the Valley, and is tied with 10th-ranked Cincinnati for first place at 4-2.

The climax was reached Monday night as Drake whipped Tulsa 60-55 at Des Moines and dropped Tulsa to a third place tie at 3-2 with Wichita, an easy 111-70 winner over North Texas at Wichita.

Cincinnati plays at Bradley, 4-3, and Louisville, 3-3, goes to St. Louis, 2-4, tonight. Cincy can take over first place alone with a victory. But a Bradley victory would leave Drake alone at the top.

"Our success is wrapped up in the development of our transfers," John said. "This is the most inexperienced squad I've had in eight years at Drake." Bob Netolicky, 6-8 junior, is vastly improved over '65. The only veterans are co-captains Herman Watson and Harold Aldridge.

Gary Lovemark, a 6-foot-7 transfer from Minnesota of the Big Ten, has come through for Drake. So has 6-3 Harold Jeter, Highland, Kan., junior college grad who led the scoring against Tulsa with 22 points.

"Jeter is a complete player, a real asset," John said.

The Drake surge started with a 75-66 victory at Peoria Jan. 13, spoiling Bradley's perfect home court record. Bradley has skidded since then. John's club went on to beat Wichita at home Iowa State on the road, North Texas and Tulsa, both at home. Wichita's Jamie Thompson hit 12 of 18 field shots and scored 27 to strengthen his hold on the Valley scoring lead with a 23 point average.

Rich Parks of St. Louis, the leader last week, is second at 21.1. Westley Unseld of Louisville holds a narrow edge, 19.67 to 19.60, over Warren Armstrong of Wichita, who scored 24 with 10-for-16 shooting and led both teams with 13 rebounds Monday night.

Other top scorers in league games are Don Rolfe of Cincy 19.0, Willie Davis of North Texas 18.4 and Julian Hammond of Tulsa 17.2.

Unseld is the top rebounder with a 17.0 average to 12.6 for Parks.

National League Drawn Into Milwaukee

By KEN HARTNETT
Associated Press Sports Writer

MILWAUKEE, Wis. (AP) — Baseball lawyers say the National League isn't ignoring a Wisconsin court order. In fact, they say, they'll be trying to knock it out of the box later this week.

Bowie Kuhn, attorney for the National League, told Circuit Court Judge Elmer Roller Monday that his order was unjustified, was issued without a proper hearing and did not have "sufficient certainty and specificity for us to comply with it."

But, Kuhn said, the National League wasn't ignoring the order which directs it to prepare to field a baseball team in Milwaukee this spring, either the Atlanta-Braves or a still unborn expansion club.

Kuhn said the league will move later this week if possible, to have the order vacated.

But his remarks didn't stop the state from having a rhetorical field day at baseball's expense as it pressed for and won an advance in the trial date of its antitrust action against the game.

The trial, moved back last week to March 7, is now scheduled to begin Feb. 28 before Roller.

"The state finds it hard to believe," thundered William S. Stafford, special counsel, "that the National League, which takes such pains to present an Eagle Scout image of its ball players, would be so irresponsible as to flout a court order. Truly it is in the character of the monopolistic men we are dealing with."

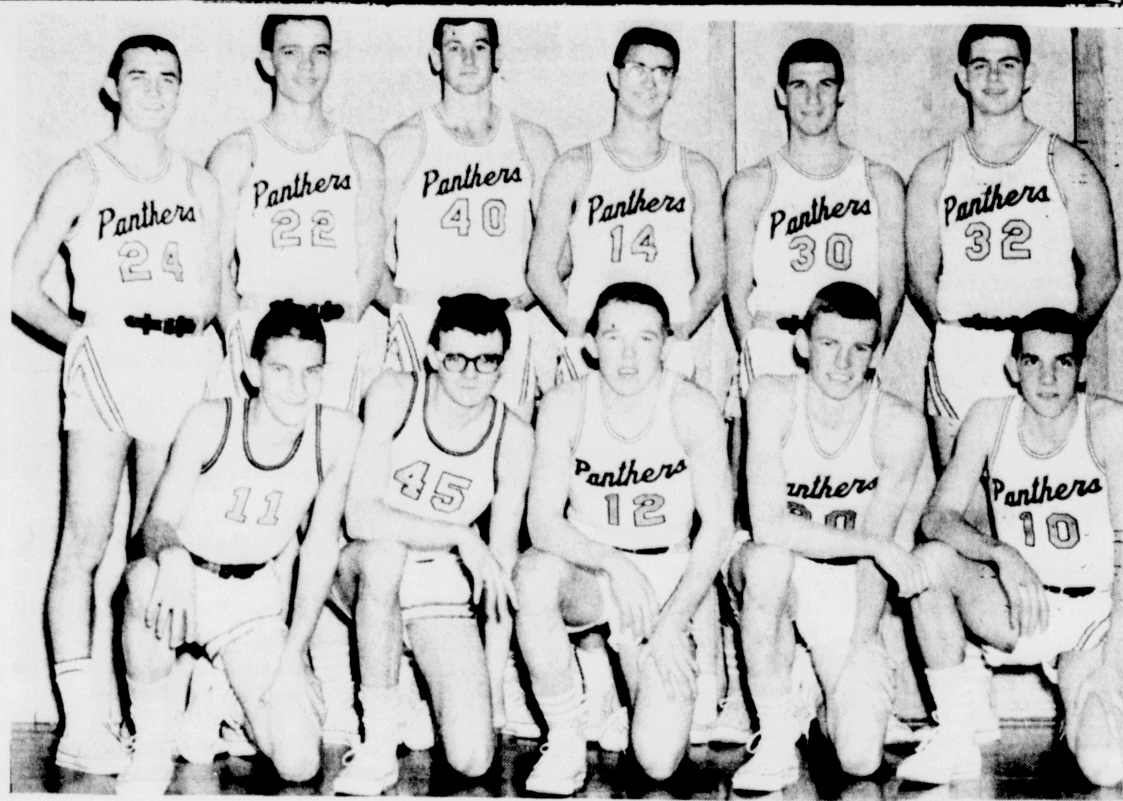

Stafford said it was necessary to obtain from the court "a meaningful and enforceable restraining order so that the state and the county can continue to enjoy the recreational and economic benefits of major league baseball in 1966."

Roller, in advancing the trial date one week (the state had asked for two) noted the arguments by defense attorney last week that his order would require a later trial start.

He avoided disclosing his reaction to the National League's reply to his order, saying only that it was "not my purpose today to punish the defense for failure to comply."

But, he said, "if the order was granted on the basis of a hypothesis that it would take time and it hasn't come to pass we are going to advance the trial date."

He did, and Kuhn and Earl Jinkinson, attorney for the Braves, objected. Jinkinson contended the advance in the date "was prejudicial to the interests of my clients." He said it was "a hardship to be forced to trial at this early date."

Southern Teams Hold Down First Three Places In AP Poll

By ED SCHUYLER JR.
Associated Press Sports Writer

Things are just dandy for Dixie Basketball boosters. A trio of Southern teams—Duke, Kentucky and Vanderbilt—hold down the first three places in the weekly Associated Press major college poll.

Duke increased its slight lead over Kentucky to 12 points while Vanderbilt advanced from fourth to third, replacing Providence.

The top-ranked Blue Devils received 24 first-place votes and 398 points in the poll of 42 sports writers and sportscasters after defeating North Carolina State Saturday night for their 13th straight victory and 15th in 16 games.

Kentucky kept its unbeaten record intact with victories No. 13 and 14 over Louisiana State and Auburn last week and received 17 first-place votes and 386 points.

The other first-place ballot went to Dayton which upset St. Joseph's, Pa. Despite the upset victory, the Flyers remained unranked.

Vanderbilt moved into third place on the strength of an easy victory over Louisiana State, which raised the Commodores' record to 15-2. They could improve their ranking with a victory over Kentucky Wednesday. Kentucky won the first meeting of the two teams.

The voting, with records and points:

1. Duke	15-1	398
2. Kentucky	14-0	386
3. Vanderbilt	15-2	276
4. Providence	13-1	271
5. Chicago Loyola	15-1	217
6. Texas Western	14-0	189
7. Kansas	14-3	108
8. St. Joseph's, Pa.	13-4	75
9. Michigan	11-4	49
10. Cincinnati	14-3	30

Drake Number One In Valley Basketball

By JIM VAN VALKENBURG
Associated Press Sports Writer

Drake coach Maurice John is an optimist by nature, but not even John expected underrated Drake to move from last place in Missouri Valley basketball to tie for first in a three-week span.

Three weeks ago Drake was 0-2 in the Valley and had just lost a home game to Bradley. Since then, Drake has won five straight, four in the Valley, and is tied with 10th-ranked Cincinnati for first place at 4-2.

The climax was reached Monday night as Drake whipped Tulsa 60-55 at Des Moines and dropped Tulsa to a third place tie at 3-2 with Wichita, an easy 111-70 winner over North Texas at Wichita.

Cincinnati plays at Bradley, 4-3, and Louisville, 3-3, goes to St. Louis, 2-4, tonight. Cincy can take over first place alone with a victory. But a Bradley victory would leave Drake alone at the top.

"Our success is wrapped up in the development of four transfers," John said. "This is the most inexperienced squad I've had in eight years at Drake." Bob Netolicky, 6-8 junior, is vastly improved over '65. The only veterans are co-captains Herman Watson and Harold Aldridge.

Gary Lovemark, a 6-foot-7 transfer from Minnesota of the Big Ten, has come through for Drake. So has 6-3 Harold Jeter, Highland, Kan., junior college grad who led the scoring against Tulsa with 22 points.

"Jeter is a complete player, a real asset," John said.

The Drake surge started with a 75-66 victory at Peoria Jan. 13, spoiling Bradley's perfect home court record. Bradley has skidded since then. John's club went on to beat Wichita at home Iowa State on the road, North Texas and Tulsa, both at home. Wichita's Jamie Thompson hit 12 of 18 field shots and scored 27 to strengthen his hold on the Valley scoring lead with a 23 point average.

Rich Parks of St. Louis, the leader last week, is second at 21.1. Westley Unseld of Louisville holds a narrow edge, 19.67 to 19.60, over Warren Armstrong of Wichita, who scored 24 with 10-for-16 shooting and led both teams with 13 rebounds Monday night.

Other top scorers in league games are Don Rolfe of Cincy 19.0, Willie Davis of North Texas 18.4 and Julian Hammond of Tulsa 17.2.

Unseld is the top rebounder with a 17.0 average to 12.6 for Parks.

National League Drawn Into Milwaukee

By KEN HARTNETT
Associated Press Sports Writer

MILWAUKEE, Wis. (AP) — Baseball lawyers say the National League isn't ignoring a Wisconsin court order. In fact, they say, they'll be trying to knock it out of the box later this week.

Bowie Kuhn, attorney for the National League, told Circuit Court Judge Elmer Roller Monday that his order was unjustified, was issued without a proper hearing and did not have "sufficient certainty and specificity for us to comply with it."

But, Kuhn said, the National League wasn't ignoring the order which directs it to prepare to field a baseball team in Milwaukee this spring, either the Atlanta-bound Braves or a still unborn expansion club.

Kuhn said the league will move later this week if possible, to have the order vacated.

But his remarks didn't stop the state from having a rhetorical field day at baseball's expense as it pressed for and won an advance in the trial date of its antitrust action against the game.

The trial, moved back last week to March 7, is now scheduled to begin Feb. 28 before Roller.

"The state finds it hard to believe," thundered William S. Stafford, special counsel, "that the National League, which takes such pains to present an Eagle Scout image of its ball players, would be so irresponsible as to flout a court order... truly it is in the character of the monopolistic men we are dealing with."

Stafford said it was necessary to obtain from the court "a meaningful and enforceable restraining order so that the state and the county can continue to enjoy the recreational and economic benefits of major league baseball in 1966."

Roller, in advancing the trial date one week (the state had asked for two) noted the arguments by defense attorney last week that his order would require a later trial start.

He avoided disclosing his reaction to the National League's reply to his order, saying only that it was "not my purpose today to punish the defense for failure to comply."

But, he said, "if the order was granted on the basis of a hypothesis that it would take time and it hasn't come to pass we are going to advance the trial date."

He did, and Kuhn and Earl Jinkinson, attorney for the Braves, objected. Jinkinson contended the advance in the date "was prejudicial to the interests of my clients." He said it was "a hardship to be forced to trial at this early date."

Coach Resigns

CARUTHERSVILLE - Bill Arment, Tiger football coach, has submitted his resignation to the Board of Education, effective at the end of the present school year.

The board offered the head coaching job to Jerry Bethune, assistant coach. Mr. Bethune has not accepted so far.

Reason given for letting Mr. Arment go was his won-lost football record. The Tigers won five and lost five the past season, and finished fourth in the Southern Division of the conference.

Mr. Arment was graduated from Arkansas State in the early 1950's and was coach at Portageville before coming to Caruthersville.

HIGHLIGHTS

OUTSTATE REPRESENTATIONS

SUBJECT OF SPECULATION It seems certain that outstate Missouri will lose some representation in the General Assembly when House districts are reapportioned to comply with the "one man, one vote" ruling of the Supreme Court.

Presently, there are 15 St. Louis City districts, another 14 districts in St. Louis County and 13 House districts in Jackson County, which includes Kansas City.

A reapportionment proponent is to have boasted that as many as 83 House seats will belong to the three metropolitan areas by the time the reapportionment commission has completed its job.

And Buchanan and Greene counties, which include cities of St. Joseph and Springfield and already have three House districts apiece, are ignored in such an appraisal of metropolitan political strength.

What this would be pundit seems to be forgetting is that the reapportioning will be based on the 1960 census; any increases in metropolitan population since that time will not figure in the remapping process.

Probably of more importance, however, is a fact which Secretary of State James C. Kirkpatrick brought out in a recent speech. According to Missouri's chief election official, the outstate areas accounted for 53 per cent of the vote in the 1964 presidential elections. This figure probably gives a truer indication of the present metropolitan vs. outstate political balance.

CHANGEOVER IN BANKS

AN INVOLVED PROCESS

Following a legal opinion from Attorney General Norman Anderson, state funds will be placed in the accounts of State Treasurer M. E. Morris, starting about March 1. Until the opinion, funds from outstate branches of the Revenue Department and other agencies were deposited in accounts of Director of Revenue Tom David.

According to Treasurer Morris, a lot of details have to be worked out before the changeover can be completed. The Treasurer and State Auditor Haskell Holman have been conferring on the matter and a conference with David is expected soon.

Under the present law, interest-free state funds are maintained in about 145 banks throughout the state. Just which banks are selected depends on a number of things -- many of them political. The final list of depositories has to be approved by the Treasurer, the State Auditor and the Governor.

A different method of accounting -- "simpler, more expedient and with fewer details" is in the works, "but can't be done overnight," according to Treasurer Morris. "After all," said the Treasurer, "there's really no urgency about the matter -- we've been managing for the last year, even if illegally."

SOLUTIONS IN FUTURE?

There are those who view the three-day approval as giving the Treasurer a veto power over the Governor. Governor Hearnes made a legal effort to get the state funds out of select banks. Now that his effort failed, there are a couple of other ways to solve the present dilemma.

Governor Hearnes has mentioned the establishment of a commission to oversee the depositing of interest-free state funds as one alternative. Some form of legislation or possibly a constitutional amendment might bring a solution although a bill introduced last year about the situation wasn't passed.

Finally, if no other solution can be found, Missouri might be seeing a heated race for state treasurer in the 1968 election.

Adjust For New Changes

EDITOR'S NOTE -- Steps the administration and business are taking to keep prosperity around as a permanent guest are explained in this, third of four articles on the U.S. budget, by Sam Dawson, AP business news analyst.

By SAM DAWSON

AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK -- Both government and business are moving warily into the new economic climate that 1966 promises. It seems sure to be different from the last five years. Adjustments will have to be made by both government and business, and likely by consumers too.

President Johnson in his new federal budget already unveiled and in his economic message due today outlines the steps by which the government proposes to keep prosperity rolling while restraining its exuberance.

The restraints mean taking more money out of paychecks in the months ahead, but out of corporate cash flows. The budget also proposes a smaller U.S. Treasury deficit, watering down that form of stimulant. And, more important perhaps, the President warns of more drastic steps of business, labor or the consumer get out of line and head for a speculative binge.

Business and labor are faced with new adjustments to government guidelines on prices and wages. Rising stock prices and heavy trading on the exchanges also focus attention on what the stock market could do to the expanding economy.

Ahead also may be closer government supervision of upward changes in prices and wages. And there is the outside possibility that if either business or labor balk, a showdown might bring congressional action turning voluntary guide posts as to how high prices can go, how high wages can go, into fixed rules set by Congress.

Another phase of the new climate in 1966 is the tightening this year of the 1965 controls, called voluntary, on corporate investment overseas and bank loans to foreigners. The aim is keep the dollar sound in international financial dealing -- and thus help in preserving its purchasing power at home. This is an important phase of the war against possible inflation -- or further loss of the dollar's buying power.

All this may develop before 1966 is over. But stressed this week are the specific moves being made by Washington, or requested of congress, to hold the economy in line without stinting on finances for the Viet Nam war or upsetting prospects of still better times at home.

Restraints already in effect include: Rising interest rates, as initiated early in December by the Federal Reserve Board; higher Social Security taxes that cut take-home pay for employees and raise labor costs for employers -- since both pay more into the Treasury this year. Higher costs of borrowing and less cash in hand are supposed to check a speculative or all-out spending spree.

Asked of Congress, and considered likely to be passed, are: rescinding excise tax cuts on autos and phone fares that took effect Jan. 1, an increase in the airline passenger ticket tax, checks in the higher brackets, and earlier payment by corporations of their income taxes.

The President says that all of these would yield the Treasury $1.2 billion more in the fiscal year ending June 30, and $4.8 billion more in the fiscal year starting July 1. It also would remove that much money which individuals and corporations might spend in an economy deemed in danger of overheating.

Nuclear Missile Power Growing

By FRANK CAREY

WASHINGTON AP -- The Atomic Energy Commission disclosed the United States may be close to significant breakthroughs in enhancing the powers of American nuclear-tipped intercontinental missiles to penetrate an enemy's antimissile defense.

It did so in a report saying also that: 1. American already leads the world in the "nuclear defense" field.

2. Improved nuclear weapons of various types including "demolition munitions" such as atomicland mines were added last year to the stockpile; and

3. The nation's nuclear weapons are even now working toward developing even more advanced types.

The AEC's annual report to Congress did not specifically describe the latter.

But apparently they entail still further progress toward assuring that American missiles -- launched after an attack on the United States -- would at least partially be able to foil, decoy and penetrate enemy countermeasures -- including their own missiles, and ground-based electronic detection devices.

"A major weapons development objective has been the improvement of the penetration capability of strategic missile warheads by further decreasing warhead vulnerability to advance enemy antiballistic missile countermeasures.

"Laboratory computations and experiments have identified several possible designs toward achieving these improvements. The designs are under further study, with the purpose of producing -- within any given set of limitations in size, weight and explosive yield -- a system of hardness balanced against all possible threats."

"Hardness" does not refer to the mere metallic hardness of a warhead.

And, while the AEC defines it only in general terms, it presumably refers to such things as the ability of a warhead to prevent its own premature detonation in flight by the nuclear "rays" or blast and heat effects of a nuclear missile detonated by the defender.

The AEC made plain the latest concepts already have been at least partially tested in underground nuclear weapons tests at the Nevada proving grounds, for its report said: "Field tests to demonstrate the durability of hardened devices have been made, and further tests are in preparation."

The clear hint here was that new, experimental versions of hydrogen or atomic warheads were placed underground and tested for their ability to remain intact despite the explosion of a nuclear device elsewhere in the area.

Referring to underground weapons tests in general, the AEC said the past year had marked a continuance of "an aggressive" program of that

Armed Forces

Charles Allen Brooks of Kennett recently enlisted in the U.S. Army for a period of three years, it was reported today by Sergeant First Class A. B. Ledbetter of the U.S. Army recruiting station in Sikeston, Mo.

Private Brooks enlisted under the Army's "Choice Not Chance" "Vocational Training" program. His choice of enlistment was for Regular Army Unlimited. He is now undergoing basic training, where he will learn military courtesy and customs, basic close order drill, troop information and the uniform code of military justice, weapon training, leadership training, chemical-biological and atomic warfare, map reading, squad tactics, first aid, and intelligence training. His parents Mr. and Mrs. Otis J. Brooks, reside at Rt. 1, Kennett, Mo. For more information about the "Vocational Training" program contact Sgt. Ledbetter at Sikeston or call GR 1-3419.

Candidates will enroll in the special six-week summer training session and undertake those Naval Science Courses normally studied by NROTC students during their freshman and sophomore years. Successful completion of these courses will make the candidate eligible for enrollment at the Junior level of the NROTC program if he is attending or is admitted to one of the 52 Colleges or Universities offering the NROTC program. Completion of the NROTC program will enable the candidate to obtain a commission in the U.S. Navy as an Ensign or in the Marine Corps as a 2ND LT.

Selected applicants will receive paid transportation to and from the special session plus $87.90 a month during the training session. During the Junior and Senior year the candidate will pursue the normal academic program leading to a degree along with courses in Naval Science. During the summer months the candidate will go on a six-eight week summer cruise.

For more information on this program contact your Navy Recruiter at Old Post Office Sikeston or call him at GR 1-2955.

HIGHLIGHTS

OUTSTATE REPRESENTATIONS SUBJECT OF SPECULATION

It seems certain that outstate Missouri will lose some representation in the General Assembly when House districts are reapportioned to comply with the "one man, one vote" ruling of the Supreme Court.

Presently, there are 15 St. Louis City districts, another 14 districts in St. Louis County and 13 House districts in Jackson County, which includes Kansas City.

A reapportionment proponent is to have boasted that as many as 83 House seats will belong to these three metropolitan areas by the time the reapportionment commission has completed its job.

And Buchanan and Greene counties, which include cities of St. Joseph and Springfield and already have three House districts apiece, are ignored in such an appraisal of metropolitan political strength.

What this would be pundit seems to be forgetting is that the reapportioning will be based on the 1960 census; any increases in metropolitan population since that time will not figure in the remapping process.

Probably of more importance, however, is a fact which Secretary of State James C. Kirkpatrick brought out in a recent speech. According to Missouri's chief election official, the outstate areas accounted for 53 per cent of the vote in the 1964 presidential elections. This figure probably gives a truer indication of the present metropolitan vs. outstate political balance.

CHANGEOVER IN BANKS AN INVOLVED PROCESS

Following a legal opinion from Attorney General Norman Anderson, state funds will be placed in the accounts of State Treasurer M. E. Morris, starting about March 1. Until the opinion, funds from outstate branches of the Revenue Department and other agencies were deposited in accounts of Director of Revenue Tom David.

David's office, in turn, would transmit the funds to Morris' account on a systematic -- though complicated -- basis.

According to Treasurer Morris, a lot of details have to be worked out before the changeover can be completed. The Treasurer and State Auditor Haskell Holman have been conferring on the matter and a conference with David is expected soon.

Under the present law, interest-free state funds are maintained in about 145 banks throughout the state. Just which banks are selected depends on a number of things -- many of them political. The final list of depositories has to be approved by the Treasurer, the State Auditor and the Governor.

Governor Warren E. Hearnes made the choice of "establishment" banks an issue in his primary campaign and rejected the Treasurer's three main selections; this apparently inspired the system involving the Department of Revenue.

A different method of accounting -- "simpler, more expedient and with fewer details" is in the works, "but can't be done overnight," according to Treasurer Morris. "After all," said the Treasurer, "there's really no urgency about the matter -- we've been managing for the last year, even if illegally."

SOLUTIONS IN FUTURE? There are those who view the three-day approval as giving the Treasurer a veto power over the Governor. Governor Hearnes made a legal effort to get the state funds out of select banks. Now that his effort failed, there are a couple of other ways to solve the present dilemma.

Governor Hearnes has mentioned the establishment of a commission to oversee the depositing of interest-free state funds as one alternative. Some form of legislation or possibly a constitutional amendment might bring a solution although a bill introduced last year about the situation wasn't passed.

Finally, if no other solution can be found, Missouri might be seeing a heated race for state treasurer in the 1968 election.

"Hardness" does not refer to the mere metallic hardness of a warhead. And, while the AEC defines it only in general terms, it presumably refers to such things as the ability of a warhead to prevent its own premature detonation in flight by the nuclear "rays" or blast and heat effects of a nuclear missile detonated by the defender.

The AEC made plain the latest concepts already have been at least partially tested in underground nuclear weapons tests at the Nevada proving grounds, for its report said: "Field tests to demonstrate the durability of hardened devices have been made and further tests are in preparation."

The clear hint here was that new, experimental versions of hydrogen or atomic warheads were placed underground and tested for their ability to remain intact despite the explosion of a nuclear device elsewhere in the area.

Referring to underground weapons tests in general, the AEC said the past year had marked a continuance of "an aggressive" program of that

Honors Heaped on Parents Rules for Getting Tax Break

CAPE GIRARDEAU - It was a big day for Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Zimmer, Jr.

At a presentation in the Social Security office, they received the first two health insurance cards issued in southeast Missouri under medicare.

At a meeting of the breakfast Optimist Club, Zimmer was the recipient of the James P. Reinagel past President's Award, given annually by the club to an outstanding civic leader in Cape Girardeau, particularly in youth work.

Paul J. Palmer, manager of the Cape Girardeau Social Security District, presented Zimmer and his wife, Ella, with the health insurance cards. They were asked to publicly accept the first cards in the area in recognition of Zimmer's long career of community and public service.

Palmer said that starting Monday those persons who have enrolled for medicare will be receiving their insurance cards in the mail. It is expected that most of them will receive their cards before the program becomes effective July 1.

Zimmer is manager as well as secretary-treasurer of Federal Materials Co. He has not retired and does not receive Social Security benefits, Palmer pointed out. However, a person does not have to be entitled to monthly social security benefits to be eligible for medicare he emphasized.

In fact, almost everyone who is 65 years old can become insured under medicare. Those who were 65 before this year must file with the Social Security Administration before March 31 if they wish to be covered by the part of medicare which provides insurance for doctor bills and certain other medical costs beyond the basic hospitalization insurance, Palmer said.

The award given for the seventh year by the Breakfast Optimists bears the name of the immediate past president of the club, thus for 1966 it was the James P. Reinagel award. In civic and charitable activities, Zimmer has served as chairman of the March of Dimes and of the building fund drive that raised money for Cape Catholic high school, now Notre Dame.

He has served on the United Fund board and on numerous fund drives such as for cancer and heart diseases. He is chairman of the St. Vincent de Paul Society, an organization of lay workers devoted to helping the needy, underprivileged and aged. He is known to have given individual assistance to those in need. Zimmer is chairman of the lay advisory board of St. Francis hospital and past chairman of the Industrial Development committee.

During his tenure in office, industry in Cape Girardeau continued to expand at a rapid rate. He is a member of the public housing committee and a former member of the evening Optimist Club.

Active in scouting and youth work, Zimmer in 1964 received the Silver Beaver award.

He is a past director of the Cape Girardeau Federal Savings and Loan Association and was elected to the board of the National Crushed Stone Association.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Zimmer are active members of St. Mary's Cathedral church. In 1959, Zimmer was decorated a Knight of St. Gregory, the highest honor that can be bestowed upon a Catholic layman.

Zimmer has been a member of the Knights of Columbus for more than 50 years and is a Fourth Degree Knight. He was chairman of the building fund for the present KC hall and has served as an officer on the local, district and state levels of the KC.

Mr. and Mrs. Zimmer have two daughters, Mrs. James H. Bucher, Sikeston, and Mrs. Walter C. Nitsche, Seattle, Wash.

Individuals who can qualify as head of household get a lower tax rate than allowed if they had to file as single persons. You qualify if:

You were unmarried or legally separated at the end of 1965 or were married by the end of the year to someone who for part of the year was a nonresident alien; you must have furnished over half the cost of your home which was the main residence for the year for yourself and your unmarried child, stepchild or grandchild, even though not a dependent of yours, or of any relative you can claim as a dependent or, if you paid more than half the cost of maintaining a home for your mother or father, if either can qualify as your dependent.

You cannot claim you maintained a home for a parent if you were paying for him or her in a home for the aged. But, if you meet qualifications listed above, you can use tax table B or tax rate schedule No. 3.

THE MAIL BAG

EXTREMISM - FOR FREEDOM - OR SLAVERY

It is as simple as that. ALL socialist - so-called, "Welfare State, Liberal theories and laws" - usurp freedoms of the people - one at a time - until too late - they find themselves, like cattle - in the socialist-salve state, of all past history.

In just 30 years - most Americans have been fooled - into following, supporting and voting for a new crop of the age-old-power-hungry - "slavery - extremists" - who in their oratory - with every sentence - insult the masses - by telling them they are ignorant - unable to care for themselves - and only a brain-truster, super-elite, all-powerful, centralized, socialist-state government - knows what is best for all employees, employees, farmers, doctors, lawyers, races, colors and creeds.

Listen to the end of Patrick Henry's famous speech on "Liberty." "I consider the question before the House, as nothing less than Freedom or Slavery. Is life so dear, or peace so sweet, as to be purchased at the price of chains and slavery? Forbid it, Almighty God; I know not what course others may take, but for me, GIVE ME LIBERTY OR GIVE ME DEATH."

Shortly thereafter, they pledged to each other - their lives, fortunes and sacred honor - to eliminate the "slavery-extremism" (tyranny of socialist King George III. Many lost their lives, their loved ones, their fortunes - even cannonaded their own homes to bits, that were occupied by the enemy.

But - they won their freedoms - and to insure freedoms for their descendants - worked out the best man-made laws, in all history - our U.S. Constitution. Here it is in short form. Their wise plans - NO MORE of the age-old, centralized, socialist, Federal tyranny - freedom of each sovereign state and the individuals therein to care for themselves - unfettered free-enterprise - a stock of gold, in sufficient percentages to currency and government bonds issued, to guarantee redemption in gold - and insure against unlimited issue of worthless, fiat paper - to be used as money in buying votes of people, toward building and perpetuating a one-party socialist hierarchy - refraining from alliances with foreign countries (except trade) that always, under new, powerful rulers war against each other - and later the Monroe Doctrine - to prevent foreign, ruthless rulers from a foothold in South America - from which they could later attack us through our back-door.

Is there any doubt in the mind of anyone - that power - hungry socialist King George III - and all of his vassal judges and rubber-stamp, political bureaucrats - branded our Founding Fathers as radicals, reactionaries, extremists and traitors?

So - we enjoyed the longest period of freedoms in history, and became the wealthiest nation in all history - because of the "freedom-extremism" of our Forefathers - and their unselfish determination - that their descendants would not as peoples throughout all history - be made serfs - by power-hungry politicians - with confiscatory taxes and force.

But - our people forgot to be thankful for their freedom-heritage - zealous of its continuance - and because of a depression - that infinitesimal, greedy men will always cause periodically - listened to a gold-enforced, power-hungry, politician President in the 1930's - who for personal and one-party power - deliberately decided to return our people to the socialist-state - like the ways, socialist-ridden countries of Europe, that the Pilgrims fled from.

To do this - necessitated the destruction of our gold standard - the destruction of our U. S. Constitution - the control of a majority of Congress - control of the Supreme Court by packing it with socialist politicians - elimination of the sovereign states - and individual rights - and replacing LIMITED Federal functions with UNLIMITED FEDERAL CON-

Superb Flavor Shows Off In This Pork Cut

Small dinner parties don't always require a roast as an entrée, but they do need something elegant.

For this extra special occasion Reba Staggs, meat expert, suggests a roast pork tenderloin. Marinate the meat first for about two hours to give it a gourmet touch.

The pork tenderloin is a long, tapering round muscle weighing from one-half to one pound. It's tender, of course, but since fresh pork tenderloins taste best when cooked to 170° F., the cooking time adds up to approximately an hour and a half.

Roast Pork Tenderloin
2 pork tenderloins
Juice of 1 lemon
Juice of 1 orange
1 teaspoon salt
2 large onions, quartered
1 garlic clove, finely chopped
1 teaspoon leaf oregano

Mix lemon and orange juice, salt, pepper, onions, garlic and oregano. Allow tenderloin to stand in this marinade for 2 to 3 hours, turning several times. Drain. Place meat on rack in open roasting pan. Do not add water. Do not cover. Roast in a moderate oven (350° F.) 1 1/2 hours or until done. 6 to 8 servings.

The one-armed stranger winced as the barber nicked him again. But the razor-welder chattered on unnoticed. "Haven't you been here before?" he babbled. "No," said the stranger, glowering, "I lost my arm in a hunting accident."

-----Joseph Salak

TROL. President Roosevelt started a revolution in reverse - and succeeding Presidents to date have nearly completed the job.

The innumerable - now well-entrenched - unconstitutional, Federal Bureaucracies - incorporated in Washington the past 30 years - with never a thought of submitting them as "amendments to our Constitution" - in accordance with "Article V" - "for ratification or rejection by the legislatures of three-fourths of the States" - have nearly completed the destruction of ALL our freedoms - and usurped control of our earnings, possessions, businesses, education, and all facets of our daily living.

Why should there be surprise - that Founding - Father-believing - freedom - loving - God-fearing patriots in America - old and new groups and organizations - have decided to fight, for the resurrection of the freedom-heritage handed down to us by our Forefathers.

Perhaps - the following suggestion - is the greatest favor - this writer can confer upon everyone who reads this. Contact the Freedom or Liberty libraries in your area. There, you will find books and names and addresses of patriotic organizations and writers - to whom you can subscribe, for weekly and monthly publications - all of which detail the REAL FACTS - about planned subjugation of the masses - and the names and history of those who plotted it - the last 30 years.

Read and learn how - a socialist - state - cabal - centralized in Washington - is on the last lap of total control - of our moneys, properties, businesses, farms, education and freedoms. Look up the meaning of "socialism", in your old dictionaries. Do this before elections in November. It might be your LAST chance to switch your vote, from the octopus-encircling - "Welfare-State-Slavery - Extremism" - to FREEDOM-EXTREMISM.

Listen to Patrick Henry further - "I have but one lamp by which my feet are guided; and that is the lamp of experience. I know of no way of judging of the future, but by the past. Are we disposed to be of the number of those, who having eyes see not, and having ears hear not - the things which so nearly concern their temporal salvation? For my part, what ever anguish of spirit it may cost, I am willing to know the WHOLE TRUTH; to know the WORST - and to provide for it."

Honors Heaped on Parents Rules for Of Mrs. James H. Bucher Getting Tax Break

CAPE GIRARDEAU - It was a big day for Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Zimmer, Jr. At a presentation in the Social Security office, they received the first two health insurance cards issued in southeast Missouri under medicare.

At a meeting of the breakfast Optimist Club, Zimmer was the recipient of the James P. Reinagel past President's Award, given annually by the club to an outstanding civic leader in Cape Girardeau, particularly in youth work.

Paul J. Palmer, manager of the Cape Girardeau Social Security District, presented Zimmer and his wife, Ella, with the health insurance cards. They were asked to publicly accept the first cards in the area in recognition of Zimmer's long career of community and public service.

Palmer said that starting Monday those persons who have enrolled for medicare will be receiving their insurance cards in the mail. It is expected that most of them will receive their cards before the program becomes effective July 1.

Zimmer is manager as well as secretary-treasurer of Federal Materials Co. He has not retired and does not receive Social Security benefits, Palmer pointed out. However, a person does not have to be entitled to monthly social security benefits to be eligible for medicare he emphasized.

In fact, almost everyone who is 65 years old can become insured under medicare. Those who were 65 before this year, must file with the Social Security Administration before March 31 if they wish to be covered by the part of medicare which provides insurance for doctor bills and certain other medical costs beyond the basic hospitalization insurance, Palmer said.

The award given for the seventh year by the Breakfast Optimists bears the name of the immediate past president of the club, thus for 1966 it was the James P. Reinagel award. In civic and charitable activities, Zimmer has served as chairman of the March of Dimes and of the building fund drive that raised money for Cape Catholic high school, now Notre Dame.

He has served on the United Fund board and on numerous fund drives such as for cancer and heart diseases. He is chairman of the St. Vincent de Paul Society, an organization of lay workers devoted to helping the needy, underprivileged and aged. He is known to have given individual assistance to those in need. Zimmer is chairman of the lay advisory board of St. Francis hospital and past chairman of the Industrial Development committee.

During his tenure in office, Zimmer in Cape Girardeau continued to expand at a rapid rate. He is a member of the public housing committee and a former member of the evening Optimist Club.

Active in scouting and youth work, Zimmer in 1964 received the Silver Beaver award.

He is a past director of the Cape Girardeau Federal Savings and Loan Association and was elected to the board of the National Crushed Stone Association.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Zimmer are active members of St. Mary's Cathedral church. In 1959, Zimmer was decorated a Knight of St. Gregory, the highest honor that can be bestowed upon a Catholic layman. Zimmer has been a member of the Knights of Columbus for more than 50 years and is a Fourth Degree Knight. He was chairman of the building fund for the present KC hall and has served as an officer on the local, district and state levels of the KC.

Mr. and Mrs. Zimmer have two daughters, Mrs. James H. Bucher, Sikeston, and Mrs. Walter C. Nitsche, Seattle, Wash.

Individuals who can qualify as head of household get a lower tax rate than allowed if they had to file as single persons. You qualify if:

You were unmarried or legally separated at the end of 1965 or were married by the end of the year to someone who for part of the year was a nonresident alien; you must have furnished over half the cost of your home which was the main residence for the year for yourself and your unmarried child, stepchild or grandchild, even though not a dependent of yours, or of any relative you can claim as a dependent or, if you paid more than half the cost of maintaining a home for your mother or father, if either can qualify as your dependent.

You cannot claim you maintained a home for a parent if you were paying for him or her in a home for the aged. But, if you meet qualifications listed above, you can use tax table B or tax rate schedule No. 3.

Next: Claiming dependents.

THE MAIL BAG

TO THE EDITOR: EXTREMISM - FOR FREEDOM - OR SLAVERY

It is as simple as that. ALL socialist - so-called, "Welfare State, Liberal theories and laws" - usurp freedoms of the people - one at a time - until too late they find themselves, like cattle - in the socialist-salve state, of all past history.

In just 30 years - most Americans have been fooled - into following, supporting and voting for a new crop of the age-old-power-hungry - "slavery - extremists" - who in their oratory - with every sentence - insult the masses - by telling them they are ignorant - unable to care for themselves - and only a brain-truster, super-elite, all-powerful, centralized, socialist-state government - knows what is best for all employees, employees, farmers, doctors, lawyers, races, colors and creeds.

Listen to the end of Patrick Henry's famous speech on "Liberty": "I consider the question before the House, as nothing less than Freedom or Slavery. Is life so dear, or peace so sweet, as to be purchased at the price of chains and slavery? Forbid it, Almighty God; I know not what course others may take, but for me, GIVE ME LIBERTY OR GIVE ME DEATH."

Shortly thereafter, they pledged to each other - their lives, fortunes and sacred honor - to eliminate the "slavery-extremism" tyranny of socialist King George III. Many lost their lives, their loved ones, their fortunes - even cannibals their own homes to bits, that were occupied by the enemy.

But - they won their freedoms - and to insure freedoms for their descendants - worked out the best man-made laws, in all history - our U.S. Constitution. Here it is in short form.

Their wise plans - NO MORE of the age-old, centralized, socialist, Federal tyranny - freedom of each sovereign state - and the individuals therein to care for themselves - unfettered free-enterprise - a stock of gold, in sufficient percentages to currency and government bonds issued, to guarantee redemption in gold - and insure against unlimited issue of worthless, fiat paper - to be used as money in buying votes of people, toward building and perpetuating a one-party socialist hierarchy - refraining from alliances with foreign countries (except trade) that always, under new, power-hungry rulers war against each other - and later the Monroe Doctrine - to prevent foreign, ruthless rulers from a foothold in South America - from which they could later attack us through our back-door.

Is there any doubt in the mind of anyone - that power - hungry socialist King George III - and all of his vassal judges and rubber-stamp, political bureaucrats - branded our Founding Fathers as radicals, reactionaries, extremists and traitors?

So - we enjoyed the longest period of freedoms in history, and became the wealthiest nation in all history - because of our "freedom-extremism" of our Founders - and their selfless determination - that their descendants would not as peoples - be made serfs - by power-hungry politicians - with confiscatory taxes and force.

But - our people forgot to be thankful for their freedom - heretofore - zealous of its continuance - and because of a depression - that infinitesimal, greedy men will always cause periodically - listened to a gold-enforced, power-hungry, politician President in the 1930's - who for personal and one-party power - deliberately decided to return our people to the socialist-state - like the alphas, socialist-ridden countries of Europe, that the Pilgrims fled from.

To do this - necessitated the destruction of our gold standard - the destruction of our U.S. Constitution - the control of a majority of Congress - control of the Supreme Court by packing it with socialist politicians - elimination of the sovereign states' and individual rights - and replacing LIMITED Federal functions with UNLIMITED FEDERAL CON-

Superb Flavor Shows Off In This Pork Cut

Small dinner parties don't always require a roast as an entrée, but they do need something elegant.

For this extra special occasion Reba Staggs, meat expert, suggests a roast pork tenderloin. Marinate the meat first for about two hours to give it a gourmet touch.

The pork tenderloin is a long, tapering round muscle weighing from one-half to one pound. It's tender, of course, but since fresh pork tenderloin tastes best when cooked to 170° F., the cooking time adds up to approximately an hour and a half.

Roast Pork Tenderloin

2 pork tenderloins
Juice of 1 lemon
1 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon pepper
2 large onions, quartered
1 garlic clove, finely chopped
1 teaspoon leaf oregano

Mix lemon and orange juice, salt, pepper, onions, garlic and oregano. Allow tenderloin to stand in this marinade for 2 to 3 hours, turning several times. Drain. Place meat on rack in open roasting pan. Do not add water. Do not cover. Roast in a moderate oven (350° F.) 1 1/2 hours or until done. 6 to 8 servings.

The one-armed stranger winced as the barber nicked him again. But the razor wielder chattered on unnoticed. "Haven't you been here before?" he babbled. "No," said the stranger, glowering, "I lost my arm in a hunting accident."

-----Joseph Salak

TROL. President Roosevelt started a revolution in reverse - and succeeding Presidents to date have nearly completed the job.

The innumerable - now well-entrenched - unconstitutional, Federal Bureaucracies - incorporated in Washington the past 30 years - with never a thought of submitting them as "amendments to our Constitution" - in accordance with "Article V" - "for ratification or rejection by the legislatures of three-fourths of the States" - have nearly completed the destruction of ALL our freedoms - and usurped control of our earnings, possessions, businesses, education, and all facets of our daily living.

Why should there be surprise - that Founding - Father-believing - freedom - loving-God-fearing patriots in America - old and new groups and organizations - have decided to fight, for the resurrection of the freedom-heritage - handed down to us by our Forefathers.

Perhaps - the following suggestion - is the greatest favor - this writer can confer upon everyone who reads this. Contact the Freedom or Liberty libraries in your area. There, you will find books and names and addresses of patriotic organizations and writers - to whom you can subscribe, for weekly and monthly publications - all of which detail the REAL FACTS - about planned subjugation of the masses - and the names and history of those who plotted it - the last 30 years.

Read and learn how - a socialist - state - cabal - centralized in Washington - is on the last lap of total control - of our moneys, properties, businesses, farms, education and freedoms. Look up the meaning of "socialism" in your old dictionaries. Do this before elections in November. It might be your LAST chance to switch your vote, from the octopus-encircling - "Welfare-State-Slavery - Extremism" - to FREEDOM-EXTREMISM.

Listen to Patrick Henry further - "I have but one lamp by which my feet are guided; and that is the lamp of experience. I know of no way of judging of the future, but by the past. Are we disposed to be of the number of those, who having eyes see not, and having ears hear not - the things which so nearly concern their temporal salvation? For my part, whatever anguish of spirit it may cost, I am willing to know the whole TRUTH; to know the WORST - and to provide for it."

The Prayer
For Today From The Upper Room

All I care for is to know Christ, to experience the power of his resurrection, and to share his sufferings. (Philippians 3:10, NEB)

PRAYER: Bless, O Lord, all those who this day must suffer grievous pain. Help them to share Thy sufferings. Thy death, thy glorious resurrection. In Thy spirit we pray for them. Amen.

ANN LANDERS
Answers Your Problems

Dear Ann Landers: The answer to my problem is probably clear to everyone but me. I may be reaching for the moon, but when you want something desperately, it's not easy to think clearly.

I have been a widow for ten years and have two children. I never dreamed I'd be lucky enough to find love a second time. The man is exactly my age, 43. He has never been married and he wants a family.

Am I out of my mind to be thinking of a second family at my age? If you say it is best that he marry someone younger I will stop seeing him. Someone must tell me. Please be the one.

TOO LATE? Dear Too Late? The only way to find out for sure whether you can have a family is to marry him and see.

Some men who marry girls in their 20's find that their wives cannot have children. If they are wise they adopt.

Danny Lynn Forbes of Steele recently enlisted in the U.S. Army for a period of three years. It was reported today by Sergeant First Class A. B. Ledbetter of the U.S. Army recruiting station in Sikeston, Mo. Private Forbes enlisted under the Army's "Choice Not Chance" "Vocational Training" program.

Adopted children will be as dear to you and to him as the children you might have had. So go, girl, and good luck. Don't pass up this chance for happiness.

Dear Ann Landers: The least you can do when you refer to a couple by name is to identify the city so you don't embarrass innocent people.

Recently you printed a letter signed Betty and Don. My name is Betty and my husband's name is Don. Last night we had to take the telephone off the hook to get a night's sleep. Everyone we know called to ask if we had read Ann Landers' column. The letter was about Betty and Don's sex problem. Our friends and neighbors thought it was hilarious.

Your column may do some good, but it also does some harm. Please print this letter and vindicate us. Our last name begins with C and we live in Minneapolis and we are not having any trouble whatsoever. Thank you.

MISTAKEN IDENTITY
Dear Mistaken: You're not THE Betty and Don. It so happens that I made up the signature Betty and Don to protect the couple who wrote. Next time I'll use Murgatroid and Zurline -- and then I'll probably get a beef from THE M.

Dear Ann Landers: I am a high school junior, aged 17, and madly in love with my history teacher. Please don't tell me it is puppy love. I am not a puppy. I am a human being.

The teacher is 32 years old, married and has three children. To make matters worse he doesn't know I exist. Half the time he calls me by another girl's name. Whenever I correct him he apologizes with, "I'm sorry, but Henrietta sat in that seat last semester."

Please don't say this is infatuation or I'll scream. Compared to him high school boys look like babies. I'd rather stay home and think about my secret love than go out with the captain of the football team.

I dread graduation. How can I do well in college when this man is on my mind constantly? Help me. I'm FRUSTRATED AND HEARTSICK

Dear Frustrated: Your "illness" is common among both high school girls and boys. It is called "Crushonteacheritis."

You'll recover -- probably at graduation time. Until then, spend less time in the dream world and get back to reality. It may not be as much fun but it's healthier and more practical.

To solve some of the frustrations, disappointments and disillusionments of married life, send for ANN LANDERS' booklet, "What To Expect From Marriage," enclosing your request 20¢ in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

THE U.S. NAVY NEEDS QUALIFIED CONSTRUCTION PERSONNEL

The NAVY announced today an urgent need for construction personnel in such fields as General Building, Construction Electronics, Construction Mechanics, Equipment Operators, Steel Workers, Utility men and many other related skills.

The Navy Recruiting Service has been authorized to enlist or reenlist men up to the pay grade E-6 (First Class Petty Officer), depending on the amount of experience in the field of construction and/or any associated schooling.

To be eligible for this special program a man must not have reached his 40th birthday and must be earning, or with in the past three years have earned, his livelihood in the trades or profession that are convertible to the program for which he applies.

Since the scope and content of many civilian occupations differ from comparable Navy ratings, there may be many men who can qualify for enlistment in advance ratings.

For further information contact the local Navy Recruiter at Old Post Office in Sikeston or call him at GR 1-2955.

Withholding Never Perfect

WASHINGTON (AP) — As every income taxpayer knows, withholding is never perfect. In many cases there is a refund due from the government, or, unhappily, something owed the government after the annual return has been sweat-out.

A major effort is now on in Congress to improve the system, which has been getting more and more out of kilter with the passing years, because withholding is based on lower-bracket tax rates and incomes in this country keep going up. In 1964, for example, most U.S. families had incomes above $6,500 — and the median has gone up since.

If the slice taken out of every body's paycheck is based on minimum bracket rates and more and more wage earners move up into higher brackets, there is bound to be trouble. This has been the situation. Moreover, the tax changes of the past two years have cranked more complications into the system. Since the income tax reduction was staged over two years, there had to be a special withholding computation for the first year. It turned out to be a bit low and, last year, many taxpayers who thought their withholding had covered their liability had to dig into their pockets to make up a difference.

Moreover, a new minimum standard deduction benefiting lowest-income taxpayers was instituted. But this change was not reflected in the withholding tables.

Dingy Budapest Soft Peddles Scars

BUDAPEST, Hungary (AP) — They were dancing the twist in a dingy bar on the outskirts of Budapest and a drunken man shouted to a foreigner: "Look at the face of new Hungary!"

The piano player sang in English into a microphone. Men in dark suits and women with tired faces moved rhythmically on the tiled floor.

Ten years after the ill-fated 1956 revolt, Budapest lives like any other city, making the most of it. It does not like to talk of its scars.

Black smoke billows against a gray winter sky over Dunaujvaros, the new Communist-built steel city with its giant factory complex and gray and yellow apartment houses lining wide avenues.

"I admit," said a Hungarian economist, "that in retrospect Dunaujvaros was a mistake. It is costly and not essential. Today we would not have built it."

In the Dunaujvaros Hotel lobby, Hungarian television was showing Verdi's "Requiem." A Hungarian woman guide waited for a group of Soviet tourists.

The hotel restaurant listed French brandies and English whiskies — at the equivalent of $1.50 a glass.

Wind-whipped snow blew across the wide Hungarian plain. In Szekesfeharvar, Soviet soldiers stationed in Hungary walked in groups, looking at shop windows.

Near Lake Balaton, Hungary's touristic center, deserted bungalows, hotels and summer houses waited for better weather.

"Workers can come here for as little as 50 cents a day," said the guide.

In the lobbies of Budapest hotels, voices in all languages of the West spoke loud, demanding services. The Hungarian government was ready to serve them: It has guides, Western cars for rental, tours of Budapest by night, tours of Budapest by day, trips to the interior —

As a result of these and other factors, the Treasury estimates only about 12 million of the 63 million employees who pay their tax essentially by withholding come within $10 a year of having the correct amount withheld. Of the remainder, almost 37 million now have to file for refunds, while more than 14 million have not enough withheld and have to come up with extra payments.

In connection with President Johnson's tax program, the Treasury asked Congress to enact a new set of withholding rules. If withholding were graduated, like the tax rates themselves, this change, the Treasury said, would increase to almost 29 million the number of taxpayers who would break even — within $10. Overwithholding would continue for almost 24 million and underwithholding for more than 10 million. Some people apparently like overwithholding as a form of savings. They do not report all their exemptions.

The House Ways and Means Committee looked over the Treasury tables and several members — enough to indicate the mood of the committee — said they thought they could do better. Fine, said the Treasury in effect, go ahead and try. This is where the matter stands while the committee finishes its hearings. It will probably go to work on legislation Feb. 7.

The committee presumably will try to work out ways to reduce the take from the middle and higher income paychecks.

All Cape Girardeau schools were open.

Southwestern Bell Telephone Company reported 300 telephones out of order today due to the ice storm.

All telephone linemen available were on the job, and will be working until late tonight. Most interruptions were caused by limbs falling over the lines.

High and low temperatures for the 24 hours ending today at 7:30 a.m. were 29 and 19. There were 1.15 inches of precipitation.

A snow accumulation of one to three inches was forecast for the Bootheel.

People were asked to watch for fallen power lines and warned not to touch fallen wires.

Clearing and colder tonight with a low of zero to 5 above to around 10 south was forecast.

Mostly sunny and cold weather was predicted for Wednesday.

The high is expected to be in the teens northeast to lower 20s south.

Seven inches of snow had fallen at 9 a.m. in the St. Louis area and the snow continued.

Weather Bureau spokesmen said they expected the snow there to fall "until afternoon."

Air traffic at Lambert-St. Louis airport was reduced to a minimum.

Bus line spokesmen in St. Louis said their lines were about 45 minutes late and trips to Memphis, Tenn., and Little Rock, Ark., from St. Louis had been canceled.

Driving became hazardous over much of the state.

It continued to snow through the forenoon in the state with some blowing snow in the central and western portions. In the east and south there was fog.

The Weather Bureau said the snows were expected to end by tonight. An additional accumulation of one to three inches was expected in eastern Missouri.

It turned out to be a bit low and, last year, many taxpayers who thought their liability had been covered their pockets to make up a difference.

Moreover, a new minimum standard deduction benefiting lowest-income taxpayers was instituted. But this change was not reflected in the withholding tables.

As a result of these and other factors, the Treasury estimates only about 12 million of the 63 million employees who pay their tax essentially by withholding come within $10 a year of having the correct amount withheld. Of the remainder, almost 37 million now have to file for refunds, while more than 14 million haven't enough withheld and have to come up with extra payments.

In connection with President Johnson's tax program, the Treasury asked Congress to enact a new set of withholding rules. If withholding were graduated, like the tax rates themselves, this change, the Treasury said, would increase to almost 29 million the number of taxpayers who would break even — within $10. Overwithholding would continue for almost 24 million and underwithholding for more than 10 million. Some people apparently like overwithholding as a form of savings. They do not report all their exemptions.

The House Ways and Means Committee looked over the Treasury tables and several members — enough to indicate the mood of the committee — said they thought they could do better. Fine, said the Treasury in effect, go ahead and try. This is where the matter stands while the committee finishes its hearings. It will probably go to work on legislation Feb. 7.

The committee presumably will try to work out ways to reduce the take from the middle and higher income paychecks.

Dingy Budapest Soft Peddles Scars

BUDAPEST, Hungary (AP) — They were dancing the twist in a dingy bar on the outskirts of Budapest and a drunken man shouted to a foreigner: "Look at the face of new Hungary!"

The piano player sang in English into a microphone. Men in dark suits and women with tired faces moved rhythmically on the tiled floor.

Ten years after the ill-fated 1956 revolt, Budapest lives like any other city, making the most of it. It does not like to talk of its scars.

Black smoke billows against a gray winter sky over Dunaujvaros, the new Communist-built steel city with its giant factory complex and gray and yellow apartment houses lining wide avenues.

"I admit," said a Hungarian economist, "that in retrospect Dunaujvaros was a mistake. It is costly and not essential. Today we would not have built it." In the Dunaujvaros Hotel lobby, Hungarian television was showing Verdi's "Requiem." A Hungarian woman guide waited for a group of Soviet tourists.

The hotel restaurant listed French brandies and English whiskies — at the equivalent of $1.50 a glass.

Wind-whipped snow blew across the wide Hungarian plain. In Szekesfehervar, Soviet soldiers stationed in Hungary walked in groups, looking at shop windows.

Near Lake Balaton, Hungary's touristic center, deserted bungalows, hotels and summer houses waited for better weather.

"Workers can come here for as little as 50 cents a day," said the guide.

In the lobbies of Budapest hotels, voices in all languages of the West spoke loud, demanding services. The Hungarian government was ready to serve them: It has guides, Western cars for rental, tours of Budapest by night, tours of Budapest by day, trips to the interior — for dollars, pounds, Swiss francs.

A Gypsy band crowded around an American woman who stubbornly repeated the name of a song. The band did not know the song and the violinist hopelessly tried one tune after the other.

In the gilded Budapest Opera House, a Bartok ballet was being shown. Some Hungarian women had come in business suits, others had bare arms, decollete dresses and glittering jewelry.

"Look at those women," someone whispered. "You cannot imagine how tired Hungarian women are. They work at home, they work in offices, take care of children and husbands and still have energy to go out at night."

There are new, bold trends everywhere — in art, literature, sculpture. In a political cabaret, an entertainer tried to laugh about new economic reforms, price increases and higher taxes. The audience applauded — there was little else to do but laugh.

grees.

All Cape Girardeau schools were open. Southwestern Bell Telephone Company reported 300 telephones out of order today due to the ice storm.

All telephone linemen available were on the job, and will be working until late tonight. Most interruptions were caused by limbs falling over the lines.

North of Cape Girardeau, highways are declared in poor condition due to heavy freezing and more snow falling, from Fredericktown north.

No commercial passenger buses from Sikeston were operating.

High and low temperatures for the 24 hours ending today at 7:30 a.m. were 29 and 19. There were 1.15 inches of precipitation.

A snow accumulation of one to three inches was forecast for the Bootheel.

People were asked to watch for fallen power lines and warned not to touch fallen wires.

Clearing and colder tonight with a low of zero to 5 above to around 10 south was forecast.

Mostly sunny and cold weather was predicted for Wednesday. The high is expected to be in the teens northeast to lower 20s south.

Seven inches of snow had fallen at 9 a.m. in the St. Louis area and the snow continued.

Weather Bureau spokesmen said they expected the snow there to fall "until afternoon."

Air traffic at Lambert-St. Louis airport was reduced to a minimum.

Bus line spokesmen in St. Louis said their lines were about 45 minutes late and trips to Memphis, Tenn., and Little Rock, Ark., from St. Louis had been canceled.

Driving became hazardous over much of the state. It continued to snow through the forenoon in the state with some blowing snow in the central and western portions. In the east and south there was fog.

The Weather Bureau said the snows were expected to end by tonight. An additional accumulation of one to three inches was expected in eastern Missouri.
